Troops Issue Facing Final Senate Vote

Taft Says Colleagues Declare Right To Limit Deployment

WASHINGTON, April 4—The delayed-action fuse on the U.S. Senate's troops-to-Europe decision is expected to blast loose today a compromise approving shipment of at least four divisions to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's forces.

The troops issue was scheduled to be settled Monday, and then yesterday, but in each case action was postponed. Both sides of the debate found some satisfaction in the compromise up for discussion, and probably passage, today.

Administration leaders called the troops resolution "a poor export product," but thought it was acceptable "domestically."

Senate GOP Leader Taft, (R) Ohio, termed it a "strong declaration by Congress of its constitutional authority." He said the Senate had asserted its right to limit the number of troops sent abroad.

For the second time in two days, the Senate postponed final action after nine hours of continuous debate and voting on its two troops resolutions. But Majority Leader McFarland, (D) Ariz., said he expects to dispose of both late today.

OVERWHELMING adoption of the pending resolution was assured when the Senate voted 56 to 31 not to send it back to committee for conversion into a bill, which would have the force of law.

Unchanged from the form hammered out Monday, the Senate resolution authorizes troop contributions to General Eisenhower's defense force, but asserts that no more than four divisions should go without congressional approval.

It was the latter provision which Taft and other advocates of congressional authority applauded. Chairman Connally, (D) Tex., who headed the joint committee which reported the resolutions, announced he would oppose going through the amending process all over again on the second resolution.

Connally said a move would be made today to offer the finished language of the first resolution as the text of the concurrent resolution which follows. The second measure goes to the House, but like the

His Neighbors Dislike Him; He Kills 4 Of Them

CONWAY, Mo., April 4—A 23-year-old Missouri Ozarks farmer admitted today that he shot and killed four of his neighbors last night.

The farmer was identified as Kenneth Essery who lives near here. State highway patrolmen quoted him as saying:

"They were all good people, but they didn't like me."

Essery gave no other reason for the slayings.

The victims were: William Shockley, 43, his wife, Clara, 44; their 16-year-old daughter, Helen; and Shockley's 73-year-old mother, Mrs. Martha Ellen Shockley.

Nine other Shockley children were unharmed.

The victims were killed with bursts from a .22 caliber rifle in their farm home.

THE SURGING Allied assault was aimed primarily at chopping into key road webs which the Red invaders were using to deploy their forces.

WALLACE VOTES 'NO,' TELLS WHY

Ohio Solons Pass Bill OKing Removal Of Lax Officials

COLUMBUS, April 4—Ohio's sheriffs shifted their fire to the senate today in a last-ditch attempt to defeat a house-approved bill which would permit the governor to institute removal proceedings against a sheriff, a mayor or a prosecutor who fails to enforce anti-gambling laws.

Ignoring party lines as well as about 30 sheriffs in the gallery, the house late yesterday passed the bill by a four-vote margin and sent it over to the senate. The house vote was 72-53, with 68 votes needed for passage.

Party lines split at the seams, as 23 Democrats joined 49 Republicans to pass the bill over the objections of eight Democrats and 45 Republicans.

Representative Ed Wallace of Pickaway County was one of the eight Democrats who voted against the measure. He said he voted "no" because "the local sheriff asked me to."

He added that he also feared the bill gave too much power to the governor's office.

PICKAWAY COUNTY Sheriff Charles Radcliff was one of the sheriffs who perched in the gallery during the voting, Wallace reported.

The house made its passage of the so-called "sheriff's bill" certain to stick by a parliamentary

Fierce Resistance Found North Of 38th

TOKYO, April 4—Tank-led American troops in West Korea drove a widening salient three or more miles north of Parallel 38 today, then ran into fierce resistance by Red forces entrenched on strategic heights.

On the opposite wing of the flaming 130-mile front, South Korean troops punched out a fresh gain of a mile to a depth of 16 miles inside Communist North Korea along the east coast.

In the ridge-lined central sector, American and other United Nations troops achieved further cautious advances Wednesday as they methodically erased one enemy pocket after another just south of the parallel.

All available UN ground combat forces, supported by masses of artillery and waves of planes, were pressing a concerted effort to upset a prospective counter-offensive by 600,000 to 700,000 massed Chinese and North Korean troops.

THE SURGING Allied assault was aimed primarily at chopping into key road webs which the Red invaders were using to deploy their forces.

'WHAT I HAVE LEARNED SCARES ME'

Kefauver Reveals Big Businessman Tries To Buy Off Crime Investigator

PHILADELPHIA, April 4—Sen. Estes Kefauver, (D) Tenn., declared today that a big businessman made repeated attempts to "buy" him off as chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

Kefauver, in a report on his committee's work in the Saturday Evening Post, gave a detailed account of how the unnamed businessman approached him.

It started, Kefauver related, when he received a long-distance telephone call from an old acquaintance and former constituent from Tennessee who "wanted to come to Washington to see me right away on a matter of utmost urgency."

Following this, the senator continued, he received a series of long-distance telephone calls from other constituents telling him what a "grand fellow" his former constituent was.

Commented the senator: "It was high pressure at its utmost."

When the old acquaintance arrived in the capital, said Kefauver, he had with him a businessman whom Kefauver only identified as "Mr. X" though he said his name "in a collateral fashion, actually had been brought into our hearings."

"I sat there and listened. Mr. X was very persuasive. Item 1: He told me he wanted to make 'a substantial contribution' to the Democratic National Committee—in six figures," he said—but "only on the condition that they know I'm doing it on account of you."

"All he wanted was an OK from me to go to the committee and tell them he was my boy. I told him I didn't think the national committee would care for that and that he was not to appear as 'my boy' under any circumstances."

"Item 2: He'd been looking around my office and thought my staff was terribly overworked. Couldn't he send me two expert secretaries from his own office—I'll pay them and nobody was to know anything about it—to help me out? No he couldn't."

"Item 3: Well, he said, I must have a lot of 'literature' to mail out. Why not let his big staff of office workers handle that for me? Again, no sale."

Kefauver said that the "hard core" of the national crime combination his committee uncovered is made up of working agreements with a Costello-dominated group on the east coast and the Capone syndicate in Chicago.

Kefauver stated that the Continental Press Service and the Mafia are the two other important factors "in keeping the national crime syndicate alive and powerful."

The senator declared that the Mafia is "an organization to fanatical that most Americans find it difficult to believe it actually exists." But he added that the Mafia is "no fairy tale." Said Kefauver:

"What I have learned scares me."

The senator added that the alliance of gangsters, politicians and respectable front men can be beaten "if all good citizens open their eyes to the dangers we are in."

New Probe Is Demanded

Capone Trio Seen Source Of New Data

WASHINGTON, April 4—Surinder of three alleged members of the Capone gang may result today in reopening of the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee's hearings.

The committee had voted not to hold any more open hearings in the 30 days of grace given it by the Senate to write its report and frame new legislation.

The group originally was scheduled to go out of existence March 31, but a 30-day extension was voted and there are indications the committee may be continued for considerably longer than that.

On hand for questioning if the committee wants to see them are Murray (The Camel) Humphreys and Charles and Rocco Fischetti—tagged by the crime probers as the top echelon of the Capone mob. All three surrendered to Senate Sergeant-at-Arms Joseph Duke and posted $3,000 bond.

Road Ahead Said Long And Hard

WASHINGTON, April 4—President Truman announced last night that the free Western European nations have doubled their military production in the last two years, but warned that "the road ahead is still long and hard" in arming against possible Soviet aggression.

The President hailed the efforts of our European allies in a special statement marking the second anniversary of the signing of the North Atlantic Pact.

Traffic Signal Question Boils; No Action Taken

The problem of traffic lights in Circleville brought confusion, argument and a decision to "wait until next meeting" from the city fathers Tuesday.

The matter came up with second reading of an ordinance authorizing the safety director to install a traffic light at the intersection of Main and Washington streets.

The discussion oscillated between the problem of synchronizing the proposed new light and the possibility of transferring the light from the corner of Walnut and Court streets to Main and Washington streets.

Safety Director C. O. Leist explained that the synchronization board in City Hall already is overloaded. If any more lights are added, two units will be required to handle the load.

HE SAID THE cost of synchronizing would be about $175. Cost of the new light would be about $300.

The light at Washington and Main streets would be synchronized with the lights on Pickaway street, which, in turn, would be synchronized separately from the rest of the lights on Main and Court streets.

After listening to the technical explanation of synchronization, Councilman Walden Reichelderfer declared he was in favor of taking down all the old lights. But he also suggested

Housefly Family Could Master Earth In Month

ORONO, Me., April 4—"If all the descendants of a single pair of flies, raising their families at the usual summertime rate, should survive for a four-month period, the members of that one fly family would cover the entire earth to a depth of 47 feet."

This fact was cited today by William I. Boyd, a duPont specialist in agricultural chemicals, speaking to dairy farmers at the University of Maine's 44th Farm and Home Week.

Emphasizing the importance of sanitation around dairy barns to eliminate breeding places for flies, Boyd declared that one shovelful of manure can provide the birthplace for a thousand flies if left undisturbed for two weeks.

Boyd said that a practical program of sanitation, a little knowledge of flies and their habits, and the timely use of federally approved insecticides will combine to give dairymen fly-free herds and barns, and more milk per cow during the coming Summer months.

Defense Request At Surprise Low

WASHINGTON, April 4—The Defense Department submitted to Congress today an unexpectedly low request for $6.42 billion more in supplemental funds and scaled down its estimates for military spending next year.

The supplemental budget requests compared with an estimate of $10 billion given to Congress in January by President Truman, who at that time estimated military spending for fiscal 1952 at $41.84 billion.

A top Defense budget spokesman said the fiscal 1952 figure now is expected to be $37 or $38 billion. He said there is no change in the plan to maintain U.S. armed strength at 3.5 million men.

The cash cost of a modern military establishment of 3.5 million men is expected to reach a peak of $48 billion in 1953, and to level off at about $35 billion annually if there is no general war.

The new supplemental request asked $2.85 billion for the Army, $1.92 billion for the Airforce, and $1.64 billion for the Navy and Marine Corps.

THIS WOULD bring the total military budget for the current fiscal year to $48.2 billion.

A budget of $13 billion was originally planned, and nearly $28 billion was granted in the two previous supplemental appropriations since the start of the Korean war.

The spokesman said the new request includes only enough money to run the armed forces until June 30, plus some additional funds needed to assure that there will be no letup in military production next Winter.

Some snow flurries fell Wednesday in the north portion of Ohio while cold showers covered other sections, but the forecaster called it "a typical, cool Spring day."

The weatherman said temperatures were running a few degrees below normal, but would climb to the lower 40s throughout most of the state before dropping to near freezing again.

"We look for a gradual climb in temperatures beginning tomorrow, however," he added Wednesday. "And temperatures should go into the upper 40s tomorrow and reach the 50s by Friday. We should also have some sunshine."

Mobilizer Gives Views To Congress

Hard Decisions Said Not Painless

WASHINGTON, April 4—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson told Congress today that "inflation can be controlled," but it will take many "hard decisions" and each will "hurt some one."

Wilson was the first witness as the Senate—House watch dog committee on price-wage controls opened an investigation of how the stabilization program is working and what the administration plans to do to halt rising prices.

On the optimistic side, Wilson told the committee that the impact of the mobilization program would "not be nearly so severe" as that of World War II and commented:

"I would hope that we would not have to have rationing."

At the same time, Wilson said he has been informed that one large manufacturer is going to cut prices by 10 percent.

But, he testified that the nation's 40-hour work week will have to be lengthened to meet production goals.

The defense mobilizer did not identify the manufacturer who is going to cut prices, but said he is the largest producer in a certain industry. He said:

"A large manufacturer in an industry told me that his whole industry was guilty of raising prices too high and now they are paying the price for that. The public has just stopped buying and he is cutting his prices ten percent and some of his retailers are cutting them even more."

He predicted that by 1953, "the civilian economy will be better than it was before Korea." He said this forecast applied to manufacturing, farming and "all segments of the economy."

The defense mobilizer declared that the problem of checking inflation "is more difficult in many ways than attaining high production." Wilson said:

"INFLATION CAN sap the strength of the economy and threaten the success of the whole defense effort."

"We take the view that inflation can be controlled. In order to do this, however, we must have the national will and na-

'Voice' Program Slashed Deeply By House Panel

WASHINGTON, April 4—A House appropriations subcommittee dealt the Voice of America a stunning blow today by slashing almost $88 million from a Voice expansion program of $97.5 million.

President Truman submitted the $97.5 million request March 2, saying he wished to strengthen the Voice's part in the anti-Communist Cold War by building more radio stations to carry the U.S. message to Iron Curtain countries.

Subcommittee members disclosed that the action taken was not unanimous and is subject to approval by the full 50-member committee, which probably will meet Friday. The full committee normally approves subcommittee recommendations.

The six-member subcommittee rejected the entire $97,966,061 requested by Mr. Truman to permit immediate construction of four double high-powered shortwave stations in this country and nine medium-wave relay stations overseas.

Committee members said privately they were not satisfied with State Department plans for operating the new stations. They would have provided the final links in a worldwide link of radio transmitters.

In urging that the program be expedited, the President stated that "the gravity of the international situation now dictates that these plans be moved forward."

tional unity to take the necessary steps. The decisions that must be made to check inflation are hard decisions. Each appears to hurt some one.

"We will do our best to make the stabilization effort as painless as possible."

Wilson said that the "absorption of excess purchasing power" would be extremely helpful in fighting inflation.

He reiterated a previous prediction that if everyone gives "wholehearted cooperation" controls on the economy can be lifted in 1953.

The hearings opened as the Department of Labor announced that retail food prices dropped two-tenths of one percent between Feb. 15 and March 15.

Specific problems which the investigation is expected to deal include:

1. What can be done to stop runaway prices.

2. Charges that small business is being squeezed out of the defense picture.

3. Tax concessions given firms which expand for defense purposes. Senators said that they have had protests the concessions have been granted when expansion was planned long before Korea.

SPOKESMEN DECLINED to predict what Congress will do about renewing or revising the controls law. However, they said that the provision banning price controls on farm products below parity will remain.

If anything is done about farm prices, they said, it should be to raise them from 90 to 100 percent of parity.

Other developments:

1. The National Production Authority ordered the steel industry to set aside an additional one to ten percent of its output for the defense program.

The directive specifically applies to carbon steel, main product used in making autos, refrigerators and some other goods.

2. Manufacturers were told by NPA to continue making consumer durable goods in the same proportion as they have in the past. NPA listed a group of product classes designed to prevent a manufacturer from switching his steel supply from furniture, for example, to refrigerators.

At the same time, NPA Director Manly Fleischman told production officials that they must keep small business in operation to the greatest degree possible as control orders are developed.

NPA Small Business Director J. C. Pritchard said special "corrective measures" must be taken to avoid unemployment in communities dependent on a plant whose production is cut back by federal controls.

The new steel set aside order becomes effective in June when the government will be taking 10 to 35 percent of the supply of carbon steel and 28 to 63 percent of alloy steel products.

THE ELABOR Department said the small food price decline was largely the result of sharp drops in prices of some fresh vegetables and fruits. Prices of other foods advanced one percent above the Feb. 15 level.

The department saw ground for optimism in the fact that the overall trend had been slightly downward for four weeks. However, in mid-March food prices were still 15 percent above the previous year and 11 percent over the pre-Korean war figures.

The survey was conducted in Washington, New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Boston, Columbus, Richmond, Va., and Atlanta.

Authoritative sources also said that Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston's effort to bring industry into a new conference on wage stabilization apparently was foredoomed to failure.

Johnston was reported to be trying to induce management spokesmen to back down from their refusal to accept a reorganized wage board with power to settle both wage and "non-economic" labor disputes.

But industry representatives declared they were "standing pat," and that they intended to continue to do so.

If the conferences fail, President Truman is said to be ready to name an all-public board of three or five members to pass on the accumulated logjam of negotiated wage contracts which pierce the ceiling limiting wage increases to 10 percent since Jan. 15, 1950.

CLEVELAND, April 4—Walter P. Reuther was reelected president today of the giant CIO-United Auto Workers union by delegates attending the union's 13th convention in Cleveland.

The 43-year-old labor leader, who was given a rousing 20-minute ovation by the 2,500 delegates, was returned to office without opposition.

His reelection to a fourth term marks the first time in the history of the 1,250,000-member union that a president was selected without opposition.

Livestock Group Protests Ceilings

CHICAGO, April 4—The National Livestock Advisory Committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation said today that price ceilings on live animals will result in "less meat, rationing and black markets."

The committee pointed out that imposition of controls on the price of live animals would reverse the recent trend toward increased livestock production.

The program also asked for increased production of feed grains where possible.

Connally said the proposal for congressional approval of any more than four divisions, sponsored by Sen. McClellan, (D) Ark., "didn't help the resolution, but didn't kill it."

Sen. Russell, (D) Ga., declared:

"The resolution shows that both Congress and the President want to implement the North Atlantic Pact, but it is a poor export product. It discourages the very thing we want—for our allies to make an all-out effort."

Taft admitted that he would have preferred a bill to a simple resolution, but said that about all Congress can do is "state its opinion and stick to it."

The GOP policy chief said any President can "get the country into war no matter what Congress does—as Mr. Truman showed in Korea."

Letter Carriers Urge Increase In Postal Rates

WASHINGTON, April 4—The nation's letter carriers are urging Congress to boost first class postage rates by a penny an ounce—which would make a four-cent stamp necessary for mailing an ordinary letter.

William C. Doherty, a spokesman for the carriers, told the Senate Postoffice Committee that the rate increase would make possible a return to "speedy, sure and dependable mail service."

Doherty also recommended that the committee consider boosting airmail rates from the present six cent level to seven or eight cents.

He claimed the one-cent boost in first class mail would raise an additional $232 million a year for the Postoffice Department.

Meanwhile, a printers' union official declared that an increase in postal rates would deal a "lethal blow" to the mass production of newspapers and magazines.

O. R. Strackbein, legislative representative of the International Allied Printing Trades Association, told the committee that the effect on employment in the printing trade would be "equally disastrous."

The union official said circulation would undoubtedly go down "disastrously" if rates are raised. He predicted large magazines would probably be sold for 75 cents to $1 each and metropolitan newspapers for 25 cents each.

"THAT LIGHT at the corner of Walnut and Court streets is the one way the people in the south end have of getting out into the traffic on South Court street."

What Circleville needs, Horn went on, is more traffic lights, rather than fewer.

Councilman Ray Cook suggested that the Walnut-Court light be transferred to Washington and Main streets on a trial basis, that a study be made to see whether accidents increase or decrease.

Councilman Ray Anderson joined Horn in opposing removal of the south end traffic light, contending that since its installation accidents at that corner "have been halved."

He said the request for the traffic light at Washington and Main streets had been pushed by a minister, "who has dogged everybody to get the thing put in."

"I think it's pretty little of council to take a light from the south end just to satisfy one man," he declared.

The discussion ended with a decision to defer action until next council meeting.

Basic Cooking Fact Noted By TVing Fireman

When the cook's away, the eggs will spray.

This basic cooking fact was discovered anew recently by Circleville Fireman Dan Eitel.

It all happened while he was cooking a noon meal during his tour of duty in the fire station. Eitel put three eggs in a pan of water and set it on a gas cooking range. The end product was to be hard boiled eggs.

And so it might have been if Eitel hadn't wandered off to watch a television program in another room.

The program was interesting. Eitel grew absorbed. The eggs were forgotten—until three loud explosions recalled him to his culinary duties.

But it was too late. The pan had boiled dry, and—

"Do you know," said Eitel wonderingly, "there weren't enough fragments left to make even one good egg."

Driver Escapes Unhurt From Blazing Auto

A Columbus man escaped injury Tuesday when he leaped from his blazing auto on State Route 56 about 11 miles south-east of Circleville.

He was John V. Zobenka Jr., 21. He told Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff James Diltz his 1941 sedan started burning as he drove along the highway.

His first inkling that something was wrong came when Lewis M. Sex of Buckeye Lake following in a truck began blowing his horn.

Zobenka leaped from the car when it began filling with smoke. The vehicle swerved into a ditch and rolled over.

Diltz said Laurelville fire department was called, but failed to appear. He added that all combustible parts of the car were burned completely.

Traffic Police Are Questioned

COLUMBUS, April 4—Two Columbus traffic policemen are being questioned today for failing to present the previous arrest record of a state highway department official when he appeared in traffic court on drunken driving charges.

Safety Director Donald D. Cook yesterday ordered Police Chief Frank L. Harrison to investigate the two officers, William Targee and Lawrence Messmer.

The personnel director of the state highway department, Robert E. Wallace, 41, of Columbus, was fined $50 and costs Friday on drunken driving charges. His sentence on a charge of failing to have a driver's license was deferred.

Batory Denied New York Pier

NEW YORK, April 4—The Polish motorboat Batory slipped out of New York Tuesday after what may be her last visit to the United States.

The ship, which gained fame when American Communist Leader Gerhardt Eisler used it to escape to Poland in 1949, has been denied future use of city-controlled piers in New York City.

UN Chalks New Gains

Toppong, three miles north of the parallel.

There the Yanks stormed a series of key hills commanding the road leading northeast to Kumbwa, one of the enemy's main communication and supply hubs in the southern part of Red-dominated North Korea.

At last report, one of the American armored task forces was locked in battle with a stubborn Communist company clinging to a height near Toppong.

Other American columns were plunging north of the parallel dividing line to the west and east of the Toppong area as the Yanks expanded their bridgehead inside North Korea.

The U. S. Eighth Army's Wednesday night communique told of "moderate to heavy" Red resistance in the Toppong and Yongpyong sectors southeast of Yonchon which is six miles above the 38th.

The bulletin said UN troops chalked up further "limited gains" in the west and central sectors during the day as they prosecuted a general advance designed to stave off or blunt an expected Red "human sea" counter-drive.

Two Divorces Are Filed In Local Court

Two divorce petitions have been filed in Pickaway County common pleas court.

A petition filed by Charles William Calhoun asks for a divorce from Juanita Florence Calhoun. It states the couple was married Oct. 17, 1948, in Russell, Ky. They have no children.

The husband accuses the wife of gross neglect and extreme cruelty. He asks for the divorce, that the defendant be barred from any rights to his property and that she be restored to her former name, Juanita Florence Shoemaker.

Second petition was filed by Iva M. Stauffer against Clifford N. Stauffer. The couple was married Oct. 8, 1949, in Catlettsburg, Ky. They have no children.

The husband is accused of gross neglect and extreme cruelty. The wife asks for the divorce, alimony, real and personal property, and a restraining order to keep the husband from disposing of property or molesting her during pendency of the case.

The personnel director of the state highway department, Robert E. Wallace, 41, of Columbus, was fined $50 and costs Friday on drunken driving charges. His sentence on a charge of failing to have a driver's license was deferred.

Editors' Roundtable

"Editors' Roundtable" is a twice-a-week release based on a study of an average of about 150 daily newspaper editorial pages. The major issue of the day is analyzed and digested, passed on to readers as a survey of opinion from the nation's leading editors. It is the "voice of the press."

Federal Crime Commission
Editors, in substantial majority, agree with FBI Director Hoover and Atty. Gen. McGrath that a permanent federal crime commission, to succeed the Kefauver Committee, would involve the ultimate danger of a "totalitarian" national police force. Some editors argue that a federal commission, with properly and safely limited powers, could aid in more effectively coordinated federal, state, and local law enforcement, and could provide more constant exposure—perhaps through local commissions—of crime situations than provided by any occasional congressional investigations.

BIRMINGHAM News (Ind.-Dem.): "Sen. Kefauver urged a federal commission. . . Both J. Edgar Hoover and Atty. Gen. McGrath. . . have argued against a federal crime commission. That is testimony to give Sen. Kefauver real cause for further study. The negative view as to a commission is based largely in fear of a national police force. . . We would caution against taking the easy road and subscribing to a federal police agency with great powers. . . The problem, except as to special aspects—such as interstate gambling news—is local and with the people themselves."

WASHINGTON Post (Ind.): "This newspaper. . . does not share Mr. McGrath's fear that a national crime commission such as originally proposed by Sen. Kefauver. . . might lead to the creation of a national police force. . . A permanent commission, to be sure, would have to be careful not to invade local prerogatives, and it ought to be limited to exposure and recommendation. But such a body could well serve to whet the sense of local responsibility by concentrating attention on some root remedies for organized crime."

MONTGOMERY Advertiser (Dem.): "Why should not local Kefauver committees expose and cleanse their own provinces? . . . It is, of course, true in some fields of crime, because of modern communications and travel modes, that federal legislation and enforcement are necessary. Examples are found in the likes of federal anti-prostitution laws, kidnapping, car theft, narcotics. But wherever possible, the state of Alabama, Montgomery County, and the City of Montgomery should investigate and control crime on their own."

BOSTON Herald (Ind.): "We have need of some national agency, completely divorced from political connection. . . Crime commissions locally have done effective work. These could perhaps be set up on the state level. . . by appointment by the Gov."

Ohio Business Holds Well Above Year Ago Par

COLUMBUS, April 4 — Business activity in Ohio dropped off during January, but remained well above the level of a year ago.

The Ohio State university Bureau of Business Research has reported employment and payrolls were down two percent in January and man-hours worked decreased six percent from December.

However, average weekly gross earnings showed a six percent increase to $65.17.

These were the gross earnings in the principal cities, as listed by the bureau:
Akron, $64.28, up two percent; Canton, $65.35, up six percent; Cincinnati, $60.24, up one percent; Cleveland, $71.54, down one percent; Columbus, $57.49, up two percent; Dayton, $70.46, down three percent; Toledo, $69.18, up two percent, and Youngstown, $68.22, down fractionally.

ected franchise to run slot machines."

WISCONSIN State Journal (Ind.): "Hoover warns that people in other lands who suddenly found themselves in a totalitarian state looked back to recall that their undoing began when they were unable or unwilling to take care of local situations themselves. . . Certainly if ever, the American public is now aroused. It can do the job on the home scene if it wants to. . . If the people don't want to do it themselves, they will sell themselves into one of two kinds of bondage: the rule of mobsters, thugs, and killers, or existence under a national police state."

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Hardin College

Sen. Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia is probably the best informed man in Congress on the federal government budget and related public fiscal matters.

During his 17 years in the Senate, trying to establish the practice of thrift in the federal government has been almost an obsession with him.

Since 1941, he has been chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, the director of the budget, five senators and five representatives.

Senator Byrd's continuing congressional battle against waste and extravagance in government spending is, I believe, beginning to rally the support of important numbers of people throughout the nation. At Harding college we have just concluded our ninth Freedom Forum, a seminar in Americanism, economics and public affairs, for industry and community leaders.

IN ATTENDANCE were 160 peers from 27 states, including corporation presidents and department heads, union labor men, educators, clergymen and various community group representatives. An extremely heavy schedule in Washington prevented Senator Byrd's attendance but he sent me a personal message to be read to the forum conferees.

Senator Byrd has coined a new phrase—"the green market"—to describe government deficit spending. "We have some chiselers and black markets," he explained in his Freedom Forum statement.

"We've some profiteers and gray markets. But our inflated 50-cent dollars are principally the product of the 'green market' operated by the government itself in the form of deficit financing for 18 of the last 20 years. More than half of these years have been without emergency of either the war or depression.

"If we were to continue short-of-war Federal spending on a level which the president will ask for in the coming year, the expenditure budget probably will be $75 billion annually.

"If we continue the revenue budget at the current rate, after two 'quickie' tax raises already granted, Federal revenue will total about $55 billion. (On the other hand) if the President's February tax request were granted, we would be raising Federal taxes 60 percent within a year!"

Our leaders, says Senator Byrd, "have assumed (for our nation) the responsibility for propping up the economy of half the world and defending more than half the countries of the world from military attack by Communist dictators who control the other half of the earth. In addition we must see to our own military defense precautions, and sustain the one remaining economic system capable of such miracles.

"OUR ONLY HOPE to meet the responsibilities we have assumed and to preserve our free way of life lies in the capacity of the free enterprise system to produce in mass quantities those goods, materials and engines which are needed under such conditions, in better quality and greater quantity than all our adversaries combined. The free enterprise system will not operate at maximum capacity in fiscal insecurity. It cannot survive confiscatory taxes."

Senator Byrd's primary recommendation is for a reduction in the spending budget. "If," he says, "the expenditure budget requested by the President for the year beginning next July 1, were reduced 10 percent ($7.5 billion), the new taxes he has requested could be cut 50 percent.

"This can be done without impairing any essential function of the government, either military or civilian. I vouch for this statement on the basis of my own item by item analysis of the proposed budget."

Since inflation and our government's present practices in the realm of public financing is so important to the future of every citizen, this column next week will set forth some details of Senator Byrd's specific budget reduction recommendations. "We cannot afford to be discouraged in efforts to reduce federal spending while our debt is soaring above a quarter of a trillion dollars," he warned in his statement to the Harding Freedom Forum.

"We must make the effort to encourage confidence in our fiscal solvency. Once this confidence fails, the end of democratic freedoms will be in sight. Russia knows this! Perhaps not enough of us realize it!"

Barnes Avenue Sewer Given OK By Council

An ordinance authorizing Circleville safety director to install a sanitary sewer on Barnes avenue was passed by Circleville city council Tuesday.

Councilman Boyd Horn asked if there was "any way to put in a storm sewer at the same time."

The southend councilman objected to the street being "torn up twice." He said an immediate need for the storm sewer exists, described the street as looking "like a regular hog wallow." He said the storm sewer would cost "no more than $1,000."

It was explained that putting in the sanitary sewer first, then grading the street to permit the water to drain off three ways, would be cheaper than installing both sanitary and storm sewers at the same time. The storm sewers will be installed after the street has been graded, according to Councilman George Crites.

The ordinance appropriates $2,200 from the $27,000 bond fund issued last year within the 10-month limitation to pay for the installation of the sanitary sewer.

Local Dairy Asks, Gets City Tie To Milk Inspection Ordinance

Circleville city council Tuesday adopted a resolution authorizing Health Commissioner C. O. Leist to enter into a contract with Pickaway Dairy Cooperative Association to grade and inspect milk.

Councilman E. L. Montgomery explained that the dairy does not retail milk in Circleville, but sells it wholesale in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and North and South Carolina.

"Each of these states has definite laws concerning the handling of milk," Montgomery went on, "and Pickaway Dairy has completed arrangements with them so that they will accept milk stamped 'Grade A' under Circleville's milk code."

Montgomery had words of praise for Russell T. Blaney, milk inspector under the milk code.

"BLANEY HAS not rammed this program down the throats of farmers," he declared. "Yet I have yet to hear that first complaint about milk inspection here. He has really put on an educational program."

Montgomery called on Blaney, present in council chamber, to describe how milk production conditions have changed since the code went into effect.

Blaney complied by giving an instance of a farmer who switched from an old barn with a dirt floor and one window to a modern milking parlor and milk cooler.

"That farmer now has a fine installation, produces good milk and is making money. He is well satisfied," said Blaney.

The milk inspector added that when inspections were started the first plate count of bacteria was about two million per cubic millimeter, while the last count was within the 30,000 limit.

Contract for inspection of its milk was requested by the dairy. The work will be paid for by the dairy.

Derby

Mrs. Eva Deyo has bought the Robert Sweet property here and will move here the last of this month.

A son was born April 4 in White Cross hospital to Mr. and Mrs. James Furniss. Mrs. Furniss was the former Betsy Mouser. On April 4 a daughter was born at Mt. Carmel hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Harper.

Mrs. Fannie Davis was a weekend guest of the Ridgways.

H. B. Graham and wife visited Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Edwards and wife Sunday.

Perhaps the reason for the broad smile which Ivan Hill of the Eshelman Hill Grain Co. is wearing might be caused by the birth of a son to the Hills Thursday in Grant hospital.

Mrs. Robert Sweet was brought from Doctors' hospital Friday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Sweet. She recently underwent an appendectomy.

Communion service will be held at the church here Sunday morning during the worship service which starts at 9:30. Sunday school will be at 10:30.

Seoul Still A Dead City, But Rebuilding Underway

SEOUL, April 4—The shattered city of Seoul is slowly returning to life today. But it will be months before it can be made liveable for the thousands of Koreans who want to move back to their once-proud capital.

Of the half-million people who were in the city before the United Nations forces pulled out on Jan. 4, all but 122,000 remain. They are sick and hungry, but American and Korean civil assistance teams are working night and day to feed and heal them.

The civil assistance program, headed by Col. Charles Munske of Brooklyn, brought in enough rice to feed everyone and more is waiting at the port city of Inchon.

Lt. Col. William B. Jones, a public health officer from Beaufort, S. C., is tending to the

Ohio Senators Vote Against Note To Congress

COLUMBUS, April 4 — Last night, the Ohio senate got into a squabble before defeating a proposed resolution which would have called upon the U. S. Congress to call a constitutional convention to limit income, gift and inheritance taxes to 25 percent.

The resolution received only 15 votes while 16 senators—nine Republicans and all seven Democrats in the senate—voted against it.

The senate then passed, 31-0, a house-approved bill providing a maximum penalty of a $1,000 fine and a three-year penitentiary term for relief chiselers.

The income tax resolution was beaten despite the appeal of its sponsor, Sen. David Ferguson (R-Cambridge) to pass it to "get rid of demagogues who want 100 percent of an individual's income."

However, Sen. Mark McElroy (D-Cuyahoga) pointed out that the nation incurred a $300 billion debt in fighting World War II, and that "we can't amortize that national debt" without heavier taxes. Passage of the measure, McElroy stated, would seriously impair the credit of the nation.

The resolution was beaten despite Ferguson's statement that 21 other states have approved similar measures. It would take action by 36 states to force Congress' hand.

10 Of 18 Hog Permits OK'd By City Chief

Eighteen applications for hog permits have been submitted to Circleville health department, according to Health Commissioner C. O. Leist.

He said that of the 18 applications, 10 permits have been granted.

"Inspections of the premises are still being made on the rest," he added.

Leist explained that applications for the permits must be made before an inspection can take place. The applications should be submitted to his office on the first floor of City Building, he said.

Parking meter collection was $1,698.00, while admission tax collection was $282.56.

The city fathers also approved a report submitted by Mayor Thurman I. Miller showing $362.10 collected in fines last month and $208 in traffic and bonds, a total of $570.10. The $362.10 collected in fines can be used for street repairs only, since it was collected from state highway patrol cases.

Dollar Sales Reported Lower

NEW YORK, April 4 — The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported today that dollar sales of New York City department stores in the week ended March 31 were 14 percent below the same week last year. This compared with a gain of six percent over a year ago in the preceding week. Store officials pointed out that a major cause of the unfavorable year-to-year comparison was the fact that last week was being compared with a normally heavy pre-Easter shopping period in 1950. This year, Easter Sunday fell two weeks earlier than in 1950.

Imbedded Icepick Causes Headache

NEWARK, N. J., April 4—Oli-ver Jones had a headache, had it every day for almost a year.

He checked with his doctor who found part of an icepick, two inches long, imbedded in his temple.

Jones will be operated on today for removal of the icepick. He was the victim of a mugging last year when an assailant stabbed him. Both Jones and his doctor thought the icepick had been taken out of his skull at that time.

But, as the x-rays showed, they were wrong.

Swedish Sailors To Be Deported

DETROIT, April 4 — A special immigration commissioner in Detroit ordered the deportation today of four Swedish sailors who jumped ship to see the United States.

The sailors are Kjell Comstedt, 18; Keith Ostling, 18; Gilbert Johnson, 22, and Karl Soderberg, 18.

The seamen left their ship, the S. S. Stockholm, when it docked in New York, March 22. They were picked up as vagrants in Columbus, and shipped to the district immigration office in Detroit for deportation hearings.

TB Officials To Hear District Field Agent

Pickaway County representatives attending the Thursday district tuberculosis conference in Delaware will hear an address by Robert D. Ragsdale, district field counselor.

The subject of Ragsdale's discussion will be the importance of community planning and the need for using every community agency and resource in carrying out a tuberculosis and public health program.

The speaker is a graduate of Ohio State university and of the National Tuberculosis Association's field training school. He has been working in this area for several years and is familiar with the people and the problems of the communities.

Presidents, board members, committee members and staff members of tuberculosis associations in the 13-county district will be in attendance. The counties include Pickaway, Clark, Delaware, Fairfield, Franklin, Knox, Licking, Madison, Marion, Morrow, Muskingum, Perry and Union.

In preliminary discussions, Ragsdale pointed out that a tuberculosis association program involves four major propositions:

(1) planned program, (2) good organization, (3) leadership of Youngstown Lady LOSES 25 LBS.

Mrs. Connie Zagotti, 1130 Norwood Ave., Youngstown, Ohio writes: "I am 36 years old and since I have used Renell I have lost 25 lbs. I feel much better now."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain liquid Renell at your druggist, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it. If you do not lose weight with the very first bottle just return it for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Renell.

FOOD SUPPLY PROSPECTS

NOW comes word from Washington that government officials fear the American farmer will not produce sufficient food this year to prevent a shortage and possible rationing in 1952. A government survey discloses, according to the Washington report, that farmers are not planning to plant sufficient acreage to meet the record demand for food.

The great need will be for more corn, preliminary to an increase in meat, dairy products and poultry. Farmers are underestimating the call for food that will be made upon them, it is feared.

Insufficient acreage will be tilled not because of dissatisfaction with present prices of farm products, nor to fear that they will decline. Shortage of farm labor is reported to be one of the principal factors. With the nation's manpower being mobilized for defense production, and thousands of young men being conscripted into the armed services, the American farmers will be unable to obtain the help he needs, particularly at harvest time.

Understandably, no farmer wants to plant more than he can be sure of harvesting. Another factor, although probably a minor one, is reluctance to plow up soil which has been returned to grass at the government's urging. The memory of wind erosion still lingers in the wheat country.

Of course, acreage and labor are not the sole factors determining the size of the nation's food crops. Weather is more important. Given favorable weather, and a dearth of insect infestation, Americans will continue to eat well, and farmers will have money in the bank.

COMMUNIST DEADBEATS

SEVERAL months ago the State Department—belatedly—made formal demand on Russia for the return of 670 lend-lease ships which were sent to that country by Washington during the last war. Moscow finally condescended to reply to the demand.

Instead of a polite "no," the Soviet government says it wouldn't even consider the matter. Russia has the ships and intends to keep them, and if the U. S. State Department doesn't like it, that's just too bad.

Along with the ships the U. S. government would like to collect $11 billion—which figures $100 for every man, woman, and child in the United States—which Washington "loaned" to Russia during the same war, and since.

This money could be used very nicely in helping to finance the defense program, as the nation prepares to defend itself against possible attack by this same Communist country.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I do not have many opportunities to read novels, but once I started Helen MacInnes's "Neither Five nor Three," I could not put it down.

"This is a story that in a quiet, easy manner produces the process of the corruption of fine people by Communist conspirators who know what they are doing—and are really the only ones in the group who know what they are doing. They naturally go after youth, which is romantic, and after college boys and girls who have potentialities of trained usefulness.

I was most fascinated by the character of Thelma because I know her so well. She is the rich girl who lives on Park Avenue and sells her soul for another thrill. All her life she has been seeking thrills. She does not really contribute anything to life, except what money will buy, which, of course, is not too much.

Happiness she never finds. She is too active ever to be happy. She lacks the courage to stop chasing her tail, as the expression goes. If she stopped, she might have to look at herself, to become acquainted with herself, and to discover that there is nothing to her life but such biological activities which she pursues without knowing why. The thrills she seeks never satisfy her because she is only a spectator in an act, never a true participant.

I know such women. They usually possess inherited wealth, earned by decent, hard-working parents or husbands of whom they are ashamed because they were not intellectuals. They often call themselves liberals and belong to everything. They join movements on the left and some of them have even become deeply involved in such obscurities as the theft of the atom bomb, by giving dinner parties at which the thieves met, their filthy plots to unfold.

They are not evil women; they are dupes and often dopes, although their parents sent them to the best universities where they came to know the insides of books but little of the cultivation of the spirit. They move from husband to husband, for men grow tired of wives whose minds have become so global that they do not recognize the dust on their own windowsills. Their children are abandoned to progressive educational methods.

In the end, such women grow wearisome, and even their many movements and societies and clubs seek younger blood. Their liberalism turns to Communism, because when their minds are sufficiently dulled, they seek an orthodoxy different from the one they deserted in their youth. They want to be told what to believe and they accept the dictates of fools while rejecting the experience of ages. They accept disciplines from conspirators which they denied when counseled by their parents for good reasons.

Perhaps it is because having divorced themselves from God, they have filled the void with nothing. And nature abhors a vacuum even more than the abnormalities of a cancerous growth. Thus, they become not only miserable, but reflect the ugliness of a degenerative spirit. They dare not know of the ministry of God; nor can a psychiatrist fill the void of their own making.

They are really tortured souls who in the end can only destroy everything about them as they have destroyed themselves. Their tastes become increasingly vulgar; their ideas increasingly sordid. For a while, sex is a refuge, but not for long. Then their souls die.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

QUINT was roused from his own shock at the Judge's news of American reverses and Tecumseh's joining the British. "I could well do with a brandy myself. I'm sorry, sir, I did not offer you some when you came in..." He went to the taproom, returned with a decanter of brandy and two glasses.

"So all that was news to you?" the Judge continued. "What kind of a place is this Rock of yours?—that the follies of mankind cannot reach you! But it's my own particular problem I've come here to talk over with you. The Senecas—I want to keep it in my own hands, too. Let any of those fine army officers get into it, there may be hell to pay. Red Jacket and Complanter are counselling neutrality, but the younger chiefs are for putting on the war paint and I am not sure it'd be fought on our side. Some of them have been with Tecumseh, and they've had a taste of our blood. What I want to ask you, Darcy is how much you know of the reasons for this Peter Brant remaining at Teosah-way so long. You're a friend of the lad's, I'm told. I can't get anything out of Red Jacket about it—an Indian only talks when he's a mind to, as you know. The young man's still there—and wouldn't you think he'd have gone back if the war was declared? There're some rumors of a marriage between him and one of Complanter's granddaughters but I can't put stock in it—lordy, old Joseph Brandt would rise up out of his grave to stop it! Then again it may be another affair of heart with a girl around here. A white girl. The Vigilante Committee has had scouts out and one, Cordy Mosedale, brought in a story of seeing Peter Brant meeting a girl on the road outside of Teosah-way. He was in the woods and saw them. But I doubt even such an attraction would hold him now with the Mohawks joining up with Brock against us..."

"They've joined up with the British?" Horror at that was foremost, at the moment, in Quint's mind. The Judge nodded. "Everyone with a say is for it, we heard. We've our channels for information, you see. Some already are with Brock. And what the Committee's afraid of is that the boy was sent over here to stir the Senecas up to joining in 'em."

"I saw Peter but a few moments when he came over and then our talk was of his winter in England." Then Quint remembered Jennet coming into the taproom that day, the look she and Peter had given each other... Peter had been seen meeting a girl on the road outside of Teosah-way... Quint was too sick with concern to say more. The Judge filled the silence. "The boy's half-American and there's that fact that he's to choose with which race he lives. It may be the Mohawks are keeping him out of their councils, not certain on which side his loyalties would be. That's the theory I've been turning over in my mind."

"I think you are right, Judge," said Quint quickly, relieved to speak in Peter's defense. "I refuse to believe the boy'd ever take up arms against his mother's people or urge others to do so."

"Good. You give me more faith in my judgment. Of course Caton and Kane would say that even half a savage is a savage—they are for putting the lad in jail—in Buffalo—hold him as a spy. But they can't prove any such charge—we might get into a devil of a mess. I tell them that, but they won't listen. They say a war emergency overrides the civil laws. Now what I suggest is that you see him and persuade him to come here where, for the satisfaction of the Committee, you can keep him under surveillance—he can't cross here with the ferry not running."

"Kane and Caton would approve of your putting such trust in me?" Quint could not resist the question or the tone in which he asked it. "I'll vouch for such trust, which I would, my friend. I've never had doubt of it. I know what you've done here at the Rock, what your ambitions for the settlement are..." His eyes crinkled in a little smile. "To see it outstrip our Buffalo village—a port here, commerce passing through it. Well, maybe, maybe. You've built up some prejudice against you, I admit—with Caton, when he came here, and that afternoon in my office, and then you hire Duval to work on that brig of yours—yes, I've heard about the brig. But I haven't shaken my faith in you—I know you to be a stubborn man who'll stick to his convictions to the last ditch, but—well, I rather like that sort."

The Judge got up from his chair. "I must ride back. Now about this young Brant? Will you keep him here?" Here—where Jennet would see him every day? Quint stiffened. No, not even to save Peter from jail. But he could not explain his refusal to the other man. His voice was stiff. "I am sorry, sir, but I cannot agree to such a plan. We're more to feed now than we're food to give them—soon it may be worse. It may even be that I'll be forced to close the tavern."

"That doesn't sound like you, Darby," said the Judge. The warm, friendly tone was gone from his voice. He took a step toward the door.

Outside the closed door Jennet stood, her hands pressed against the doorjamb for its support. She had heard the unfamiliar voice speak Peter's name. No scruple against eavesdropping was strong enough to hurry her out of hearing. She had stood very still, her ears strained to catch each word, her breath held, lest the sound of it betray her.

... he's to make his choice with which race he lives. It may be the Mohawks wanted to keep him away from their councils...

She'd known that he'd made his choice! It was then she had put her hands against the doorjamb. Kane and Caton are for putting him in jail... Peter, proud Peter. She ran to Aladdin's shed. She had only one thought. To find Peter, warn him.

Galloping wildly she came to the brook and crossed it and ahead she saw Peter in almost the identical spot where they had met before. He came to her, put his forehead for a moment against her hands where they held the bridge railing.

"I've waited here every day for you to come," he said.

"I—couldn't, Peter. Oh, I wanted to but everything's different, now. Peter, I heard a man talking to my uncle—I heard what he said. They think you're here to urge the Senecas to fight us in the war..." She stopped, leaned toward him. "You wouldn't fight us, would you, Peter? Even if the Mohawks did?"

All expression left his face, leaving it stony. "I follow the councils of my brothers. But I would give my life to protect you."

"Oh, Peter!" She slid from the saddle, moved close to him. "That was a beautiful thing to say! I'll remember it. You must go back to Canada for that man said there were some who wanted to put you in jail—but when this horrid, silly war is over, I'll... Now the tears were running down her cheeks and quite simply she put her face against his buckskin shirt.

His hand moved slowly down her wet cheek, then dropped to his side. "You must ride back. You must not come again. I will not be here." He lifted her up to the saddle. "You will be the stars to me, the moon, the whisperings of the forest, the sounds of running streams." He stepped back, then, "Go, now."

Atomic Jet Plane Now Multi-million Dollar Air Force's Big Secret Expense Seen Justified

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The Air Force's big secret these days is that it is convinced it can build a large atomic plane that will operate on the jet principle.

This virtually saves the project, since the propeller-driven atomic plane that was formerly under consideration would hardly have justified the multi-million dollar expense from the military standpoint.

Atomic energy has been found to be immensely more applicable to the jet principle than to the heat-steam-electric clutch operation involved in turning a propeller.

Ignoring its refinements, a jet motor really consists of nothing but a "stovepipe" through which air is thrust.

Air rushes in at the front end of the pipe, is quickly and greatly expanded by intense heat, and is expelled much more rapidly and in much greater volume to give the thrust.

Just as atomic warheads can now be made small to fit into artillery shells, heat-creating controlled chain reactions can be made small enough to fit into jet motors.

The plane itself, however, must still be large to carry tons of shielding against deadly radiation.

Jet Planes

● IRANIAN POWDER KEG—United States officials are increasingly worried for fear that Iran may be the powder keg to touch off a third world war. They say Russia may seize upon some incident as an excuse to invade the oil-rich Middle East.

Apprehension in Washington soared to a new high recently with the assassination in Tehran of Iranian Premier Haji Razmara. There were initial fears that the Communists might be behind the plot. The fact that the assassin turned out to be a religious fanatic and not a Red calmed some of these fears, but American authorities are still worried lest unrest in Iran indirectly open the way for Russia.

The Soviet has long been known to have designs on Iran and its valuable oil fields. The United States views the vital Middle Eastern nation as a possible starting point of a new war.

● PROBES—The present session of the Senate appears to have taken such a liking to investigations that it is having a hard time giving much attention to legislation.

Although nearing its half-way mark, the Draft-Universal Military Training bill is the only major legislation it has approved.

But it has nine (9) investigations on the fire!

The most sensational of these has turned out to be the probe of influence in the Reconstruction Finance corporation. But others may explode into the headlines any day.

For example, the McCarran subcommittee on internal security has three probes going behind the scenes. One is spotlighting the infiltration of Communists into the military, another the influence of fellow travelers and Reds on government officials and the third is an inquiry into subversive aliens.

The five percent probe is being renewed. The O'Connor subcommittee is still investigating shipments to Red China, including cargoes from America's allies.

The elections subcommittee is checking into senatorial contests in several states, including Maryland, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania.

The Senate preparedness subcommittee, meanwhile, is quietly at work behind closed doors looking into the entire defense picture.

● UNITED STATES VS. PERON—Look for the United States to increase its pressure on President Juan Peron to reopen Argentina's crusading newspaper, La Prensa.

The United States government maintained a non-committal attitude about the whole incident until Assistant Secretary of State Edward G. Miller returned from his trip to five South American countries.

For the record, Miller would only say that he was "deeply concerned" about the closing of La Prensa and the plight of its workers.

But behind the scenes, the State department has taken a very firm stand against Peron's machinations. The United States position is this:

The United States intends to maintain friendly relations with Argentina but it won't sacrifice principle. If United States-Argentina relations are to be improved, La Prensa must be reopened as a symbol of freedom of speech.

Old Greenland Church Scene Of Monrovia Club Silver Tea Monday Night

Flowers Arranged
By Jerry Haron

Approximately one hundred guests and members attended a silver tea given by Monrovia Garden Club in Old Greenland Methodist church Monday evening.

Jerry Haron of Columbus made several arrangements using containers and flowers which he brought from his florist shop for the demonstration which emphasized color contrast.

One especially interesting was in a flat oblong container using two Bird of Paradise flowers, a large Philodendron leaf and two smaller leaves. The result was a striking modernistic arrangement.

Another unusual grouping was a salmon colored roses and tulips arranged in a black pottery container. The roses and tulips were accented with black magnolia leaves. Haron explained that the leaves are treated to preserve them and then painted.

Mrs. C. A. Bliss of Orient also gave an interesting talk to the group on her observations of birds and wild life.

Mrs. Bliss told of cardinals, bluebirds and wrens on her estate near Orient and also of birds seen around her cabin in Northern Ohio.

Music for the evening was given by Mrs. Gene Donahoe at the piano and a vocal solo by Mrs. R. S. Hosler.

The linen covered tea table was centered with an arrangement of jonquills and lighted by white tapers in silver holders which matched the tea and coffee service at which Mrs. Bliss and Mrs. Donald H. Watt presided.

Among the several women attending the affair from the Circleville community were Mrs. Lewis Sharpe, Mrs. Guy Heffner, Mrs. Orion King, Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Mrs. Harry Kerns, Mrs. Galen Mowery, Mrs. Oscar Root and Mrs. Watt.

The Monrovia Club will celebrate the third anniversary of the organization this month by attending a television party in Columbus April 25.

Girl Scouts Plan Workshop For May 19

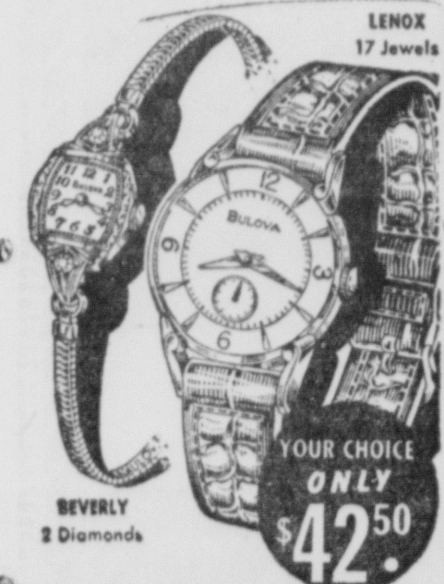

Mrs. Bernard Young, Pickaway County Girl Scout commissioner; Mrs. M. E. Noggle, chairman of camping committee; Mrs. Joe Bell, program committee chairman; and Mrs. Harold Anderson of the training committee attended a meeting in Lancaster Friday to plan an outdoors skill workshop.

The workshop will include scout leaders and troop committee members from communities within a 50-mile radius of Lancaster and will be held in Rising Park, Lancaster, May 19.

Such activities as setting up a pioneer camp, making cooking apparatus, reflective cooking, making tables, camp fires, lashings and knots will be taught at the all day session.

Approximately 100 people are expected to attend the workshop, according to Mrs. Bell who has complete details.

Schools' Brown Paint, Flattop Desks Denounced

CINCINNATI, April 4 — Dr. A. M. Skeffington of St. Louis believes "schoolroom brown" paint and flattop desks can cause a child to become delinquent.

Addressing the Ohio Valley Optometric Educational Congress in Cincinnati, he said these schoolroom factors also can cause a child to become a bad reader and retard him mentally. Dr. Skeffington said dark paint may save work for the janitor but it hurts the students' eyes because the contrast between dark floors, walls and desks and white paper is too great.

He said flattop desks cause misalignment of the spine which brings on intestinal and respiratory disorders. The doctor said the ideal classroom would have directional glass block windows which would reflect light to the ceiling and bounce it from there all over the rest of the room.

Man's Snoring Stumps Even Chicago Judge

CHICAGO, April 4—A Chicago judge is looking today for a cure for a husband who is snoring himself right out of marriage with a nasal nocturnal roar that "rattles the dishes and shakes the walls."

The ponderous sleeping noises are made by 25-year-old Richard Michalak, an egg inspector who is being sued for separate maintenance by his wife, Florence, 20.

Mrs. Michalak won custody of their one-year-old daughter, Cynthia, and a $20 a week temporary support when her attorney, Charles C. Cooley, told Superior Judge Rudolph Desort that his client's health and social life had been wrecked by her husband's snoring.

Cooley said Michalak begins snoring as soon as he is seated comfortably and the couple had to give up movies and "can't watch television because his snoring prevents others from hearing the program."

Cooley termed the snoring "unbelievable." He said Mrs. Michalak is kept awake by it until 3 a. m. "Then she falls asleep from exhaustion," he added.

Michalak admitted the validity of his wife's complaint. He said he even caught himself snoring once.

Judge Desort could make no suggestions, but he appealed for "anyone who can suggest a remedy." Such a person, he said, "would be rendering a fine service by informing the Michalaks or this court."

Glucuronic Acid Seen Key In Fighting Cancer

BOSTON, April 4—Three Tufts college scientists have reported that earlier detection of some forms of cancer may result from experiments on the body's use of a compound called glucuronic acid.

Research thus far, the report said, has indicated that among patients suffering from cancer or arthritis a significant number do not utilize glucuronic acid at a normal rate.

The report by Drs. W. H. Fishman, C. D. Bonner and Fred Homburger of the Tufts Medical School was presented in Boston before the division of biological chemistry at the American Chemical Society's 119th national meeting.

The researchers declared that it was possible further studies of the defective rate of body use of glucuronic acid might lead to a laboratory procedure of value in the diagnosis of gastro-intestinal and pancreatic cancer.

They noted that cancer of the pancreas is one of the most difficult of all diseases to diagnose accurately. This difficulty accounts in large part for the high mortality of patients with the disease, since the diagnosis often is made too late.

Paper Reports Red A-Bombs Made Rapidly

PARIS, April 4 — The Paris newspaper Figaro quoted an assertion today by a reputed former high Soviet official that regular production of atom bombs by Russia started a few months ago.

Figaro said that Vassili Chapochnikoff, who was described as one of the directors of Russia's five-year rearmament plan, gave the information from documents he is supposed to have smuggled out of Russia.

The Figaro account gave no details of Chapochnikoff's escape from Russia or his present whereabouts.

The story quoted Chapochnikoff as saying that four factories now are producing A-bombs in the region of Kuznetsk, in Central European Russia.

Chapochnikoff claimed that the A-bombs are stocked 150-feet underground and that 2,000 fighter planes stand ready to protect the region.

He asserted that plane production in Russia has reached 5,000 a month.

Teen Tips

"Tall, handsome, a good dancer and a smooth manner"—sounds like a description of a movie star, doesn't it?

A group of high school girls were day-dreaming recently about the kind of man they'd like to marry and that was the general description they gave him.

Well, that's fine for a dream, girls. But let's come down off that fluffy pink cloud for just a few moments. A tall, handsome boy who is a good dancer is a wonderful dream-date, but the best husbands are often the ones who don't look quite so perfect at first glance.

A boy who is "a gruesome dancer," but has a sense of humor, or who isn't good-looking, but is fun to be with, or who is shy, but terrifically nice when you know him—give these boys a whirl in your date life, girls, because they're more likely to be good husbands than the handsome, glamorous guy who is the life of the party.

Sometimes it takes different qualities to make a good husband than a good date. A boy who dazzles you in a football uni-

CD CHIEF OUTLINES TASK

A-Attack On Columbus Means Work For County

Rescue and cleanup work in the event of an atomic attack on Columbus in any future war would have to be performed in part by Pickaway Countians.

That was the picture painted by Dr. William Warner, executive director of the Ohio Civilian Defense program, during a lecture Monday night in Jackson Township school.

Addressing an assembly of Pickaway County school teachers, Warner stressed the seriousness of the present world situation, and the necessity of building up adequate civilian defense.

Pointing out that public interest in CD varies in direct proportion to the losses or gains of General MacArthur's forces in Korea, Warner said proper precautions should be taken now instead of after the outbreak of a general war.

WHEN THE FORCES of the United Nations in Korea were losing ground, he said, his office was deluged with calls from excited citizens wanting to know what to do in case of an attack on this country.

But when the United Nations began to gain, the phone calls dropped off.

Warner said that Pickaway County is in an area of both primary and secondary enemy targets. And in the event of a total war it would be up to civilians to take care of themselves.

And those who have received CD instructions beforehand stand the best chance of coming through with the lowest mortality rate.

In the event of an enemy attack, Warner went on, one of the most serious problems facing authorities would be that of dispersal. It would be a mistake, he explained, for officials to permit people to gather in crowds.

Another problem, one that should be solved before the breakout of any war, would be that of providing adequate bomb shelters.

BUT IT IS NOT enough just to provide the shelters. The public must be shown how to get to them. If they are not, the result is panic.

Marine Corps Honors Former Local Officer

A former Circleville police officer, now a member of the U.S. Marine Corps 1st Brigade, has been awarded a Navy Unit Commendation Ribbon and a Marine Corps Good Conduct Medal.

He is Corporal Earl W. Wallace, son of State Representative and Mrs. Ed Wallace of North Court street.

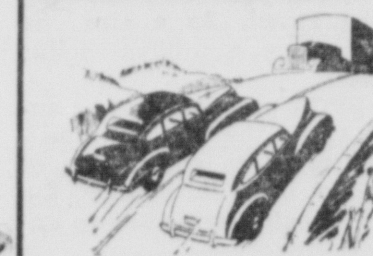

The awards were presented by Brigadier General George W. Read, commanding general of the brigade in Wiesbaden, Germany.

In contests that followed the review Wallace won second place in the .22 caliber pistol shoot.

A member of the Marine Corps during World War II, Wallace was awarded the following decorations:

Navy Unit Commendation and ribbon bar awarded the support troops of the Fifth Amphibious Corps, Reinforced, for service on Iwo Jima; Good Conduct Medal, American Campaign Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal with one bronze star for participation in the Iwo Jima operation, Victory Medal World War II and the Navy Occupation Service Medal with Asia clasp.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our loved one, Jack C. Moats Sr., passed to the Great Beyond April 4, 1951.

The Open Door
By Grace Coudige

You, my dear,
Ever show me God,
Your kiss upon my cheek
Has made me feel the gentle touch
Of Him who leads us
The memory of your smile, when young
Reveals his face.
As mellowing years come on apace,
And when you go to rest
You left the gates of Heaven ajar
That I might glimpse
Approaching from afar,
The glories of His grace.
Hold, dear, my hand,
Guide me along the path,
That, coming
I may stumble not,
No more,
Nor fail to show the way
Which leads us home.

BOWSHER TROPHY AWAITED

Monroe Plans Celebration Honoring Champion Cagers

The sports spotlight of the week will be focused Saturday on Monroe Township high school.

It is on that date that the Indian Tribe will be given honors unparalleled in the school's history. Reason?

1. The 1950-51 basketball aggregation, coached by Clyde Plant, won the first county court tournament in the school's history.
2. The team was 1950-51 co-champion of the county league.
3. The team's most outstanding player, Lester Sanders, won the annual Bob Bowshe Memorial Trophy at the conclusion of the tournament.

THE SATURDAY program, scheduled to get underway with a banquet at 6:30 p. m., will feature an address by Paul (Bucky) Walters, Circleville native who coached the Columbus East high school team to the first Class A

Herman-Saddler

Fight Finish Brings Debate

LOS ANGELES, April 4—The jury was still out today on the question of whether Freddie Herman, Los Angeles lightweight, is a grand actor or a badly wounded gladiator.

World Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler scored a fifth round technical knockout over Herman last night before a crowd of 5,800 baffled fans in Olympic Auditorium.

Midway through the fifth round of the non-title, overweight match, Saddler sank a low left hook that sent Herman to the canvas, writhing in pain. Herman arose, limped to his corner and was given a five-minute rest by Referee Abe Roth.

During the respite, Bedlam broke loose in the auditorium.

Roth, according to Herman's manager, Jimmy Roache, goaded Herman into continuing and then stopped the contest as the round drew to a close and it seemed that Herman was in no condition to continue.

Many thought Herman should not have been allowed to continue after suffering the low blow. This decision would have forced him into a return fight next week before picking up their purses.

Charlie Johnston, Saddler's manager, hailed Herman's performance as being of "Academy Award caliber." He said: "He wanted to quit in the third."

All three judges had the featherweight king ahead when the fight was stopped.

Tiger Baseball, Track Teams Await Openers

The Spring sports season for Circleville high school will get underway Friday.

The Tiger track team, which won the 1950 South Central Ohio League meeting, is scheduled to travel to Chillicothe for its opening test.

In fact, the local thirlands will make seven appearances on foreign cinners with only a single test booked for home grounds.

The lone Circleville appearance will be on May 10 when the Wilmington Hurricane squad appears here.

Following the Chillicothe meet, Circleville track and field men will be in Columbus Tuesday for a dual meet with East and Linden, at Lancaster April 13.

AT WILMINGTON April 20, at Westerville May 27, at Columbus South with Upper Arlington May 2, at Wilmington for the SCOL meet May 4 and at Arlington Relays May 15.

The Circleville baseball squad, which won seven games in eight starts last year, will appear on the local diamond Friday with Wilmington as opposition.

Balance of the baseball schedule follows:

April 10 at Chillicothe, April 13 at Greenfield, April 17 finds Washington C. H. here, April 24, Wilmington; April 27, Chaucery Dover; May 1, Greenfield; May 4, at Washington C. H.; and May 8, at Hillsboro.

Buck Baseballers Await Opener

COLUMBUS, April 4 — Ohio State's baseball team, back from a five-four southwestern exhibition tour, will open the home season here Friday against Dayton University.

The Buckeye diamond men take on Bowling Green the following day.

Coach Marty Karow predicts his team will "cause the other conference teams some trouble" this season.

state championship in the Capital City's history.

Toastmaster for the affair will be John Heiskell, Circleville athletic enthusiast.

The Bob Bowshe trophy, sponsored annually by The Circleville Herald, will be presented to Sanders by Bill Rowley of Harrisburg, the 1950 winner.

Sander's name has been added to the gold plate on the trophy and takes an honored position in the county's basketball history.

He was voted most outstanding by the 11 coaches whose teams participated in the annual tournament and is the first Negro ever to win the award.

It was sponsored in memory of Bob Bowshe, a Circleville high school athletic standout who was one of the first county men to lose his life overseas during World War II.

Sanders will place the trophy in the Monroe school building and it will remain there until the conclusion of the 1952 county basketball tournament when his successor will be named.

IN ADDITION to presentation of the coveted Bob Bowshe trophy, awards will be made to members of the Monroe varsity and reserve teams, managers and cheerleaders.

Music during the banquet will be furnished by Truman Eberly, music director for Circleville high school, and some artists from this city.

During the program, the following entertainers will appear: Vickie Hess of Columbus, acclaimed as one of the greatest of child contortionists; Donna Huntley and Otto Schmidt, an acrobatic team; Lynn Londergan, tap and toe dancer; and Leonard Farver and a troupe of six tumblers.

The Saturday night affair is being directed by the Monroe Booster Club. Spokesmen reported Tuesday that more than 150 tickets for the evening already have been sold and all indications point to a packed-to-the rafters gallery in the school gym that evening.

County Baseball Tourney Booked For April 9

Eight Pickaway County high schools have been paired off for opening battles in the double elimination baseball tournament April 9.

Four games will be played on the opening day, two in the morning and two in the afternoon, according to Walter Eberly, Ashville high school coach and chairman of the tournament committee.

Eberly said the opening day schedule will be as follows:

Scioto vs. Saltercreek at 10 a. m., Ashville vs. Pickaway at noon, Darby vs. Walnut at 2 p. m. and Monroe vs. Jackson at 4 p. m. No other schools are entered.

The tournament is expected to last five days, April 9, 12, 16, 19 and 23. Losers will play against losers and winners against winners on April 12.

Eberly said the tournament committee will send complete details of the tournament to the competing schools. He added that because of the number of days the tournament will run schools will not be let out.

Other members of the committee are Howard Pond, coach of Deercreek school, and Dale Rockhold, coach of Darby school. The tournament will be held in Ted Lewis Park.

Birds Again Defeated

DAYTONA BEACH, April 4—The Columbus Redbirds, suffering their sixth straight setback, tangle with the Toronto Maple Leafs again today in their 11th game of the Spring training season.

The Birds were defeated again yesterday 8-6 after they had outlived and outfielded Rochester. The loss was Columbus' seventh loss in ten starts.

Cappy Walker's hapless nine tied up the game yesterday three times, knocking loose ten hits in the last six innings. But Birdie batters left ten men lowing day.

Cambridge Crew Due In States

NEW YORK, April 4 — England's Cambridge university crew is on its way to New Haven, Conn., today to begin training for its race against Yale on April 14.

Cambridge will also compete on April 19 at Boston against Harvard, MIT, and Boston U. The British crew won the invitation to compete in the U. S. by whipping Oxford in their annual race up the Thames.

City Council Lauds Bucky Walters With Special Honor Resolution

Circleville city council Tuesday adopted a resolution congratulating Paul "Bucky" Walters and his Columbus East high school basketball team on winning the state Class A championship.

Prior to adoption of the resolution Councilman Ray Cook drew a parallel between Walters and Ted Lewis.

The eastend councilman said that Lewis has been the city's "unofficial ambassador for years, practically since he left here."

Cook pointed out that the famous band leader has never failed to tell the world about his home town, thus giving Circleville "wider advertisement than any small city I know of."

"In the case of Walters," Cook went on, "he left another ambassador. He left Circleville some years ago and makes his home in Columbus. But he is

Barnstorming Tours Starting For Big Clubs

MIAMI, April 4—Major league teams abandoned their Grapefruit League training sites today and began their homeward-bound barnstorming tours which will make them ready-for-action in the season openers two weeks hence.

For the Brooklyn Dodgers, the season might just have well have gotten underway already, the way Jim Konstanty and Dick Sisler of the Phillies defeated them last night. It was a throwback to last season.

The Philadelphia fireman, an old Dodger nemesis, preserved a 5-3 lead that Sisler had given the team in the top of the eleventh inning with a homerun. This is the same Mr. Sisler who won the Phils the pennant in an extra-inning last-day game last year against the same Brooks.

Mike Garcia went all the way for the Cleveland Indians as they downed the New York Yankees, 6-3. Luke Easter led a Cleveland attack on Vic Raschi with a double, triple and single.

The St. Louis Cardinals downed the Detroit Tigers, 8-6, and the Washington Senators edged the Cincinnati Reds, 16-15 in a slugfest. Cincy's Bob Usher was the big gun with two homers, one with the bases loaded.

The New York Giants overcame a seven-run deficit to top the Boston Braves, 10-8, the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked the Chicago Cubs, 1-0, the Philadelphia Athletics defeated Atlanta of the Southern Association, 8-6, Birmingham edged the Chicago White Sox, 6-5, and the St. Louis Browns beat San Antonio of the Texas League, 4-1.

Battlefield Due For Derby Test

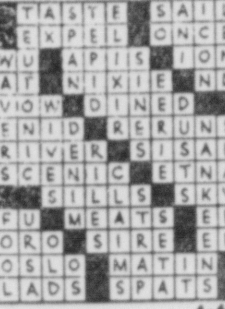

NEW YORK, April 4—George D. Widener's great colt, Battlefield, champion two-year-old of 1950, makes his seasonal debut in the $20,000 Experimental Handicap No. 1 at Jamaica today.

Sixteen other oat burners will face the champion over the six furlong route which, with the longer experimental and Wood Memorial, is considered a qualifying test for the Kentucky Derby.

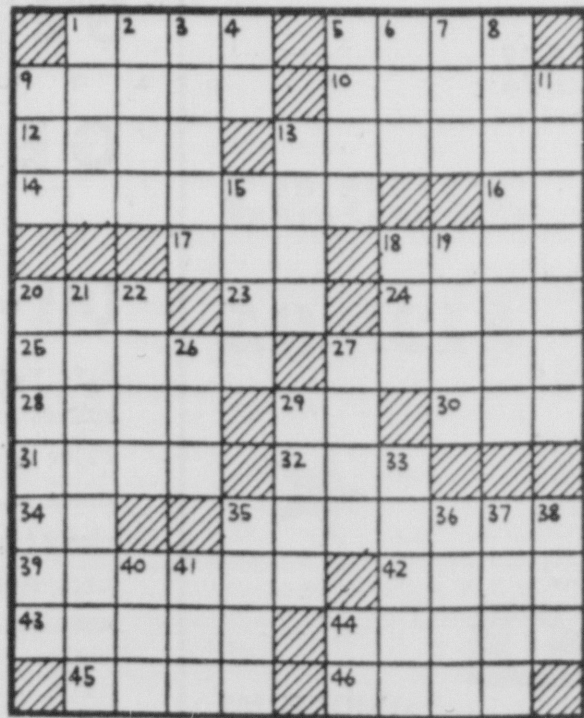

Battlefield will carry 124 pounds, including the old master, Eddie Arcaro, and will concede from three to 20 pounds to his rivals.
